VOLUME I No. 51

MTC doesn't want the roads

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications does not want to look after the road system of Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships, nor will the government agency be providing increased subsidy for this year's budget. That was the theme of a letter read to the October 10 meeting of the township council.

The letter had been written by MTC district engineer in Huntsville, D.A.O. White. It was in response to a letter from the Minden council indicating it would no longer be responsible for maintenance of township roads.

The MTC letter points out that under the Ontario Municipal Act the municipality has certain responsibilities when it comes to maintaining the roads under its jurisdiction. The letter also points out that these responsibilities cannot be ignored nor simply passed on to the provincial ministry.

The district engineer also pointed out a number of figures which he felt were pertinent to the situation. He noted that some $91,000 in subsidy had been budgeted for maintenance this year and that $67,000 had already been spent. However for what is described as miscellaneous and overhead $13,500 had been budgeted from the provincial ministry and over $38,000 had been spent in these areas.

The MTC letter states, "These figures indicate that when your municipality prepared its 1979 road budget, insufficient funds were allocated to allow for overhead expenditures. This is quite puzzling in view of an amount of $66,000 ($43,000 subsidy) being submitted for subsidy as a 1978 overhead expenditure."

The engineer also points out that estimates for the work on the Scotch Line Road were $20,000. "Expenditures at the end of August, unfortunately, now exceed $43,000," the letter said.

In closing the letter from White states, "This Ministry recognizes the predicament your council is now faced with, but I very much doubt whether additional subsidy funds are available for allocating to your municipality."

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt commented that the figures on the Scotch Line Road expenditure were "all muddled up". He said the report submitted by the municipality had been incorrectly completed and it should have indicated cost over-runs rather than straight costs.

Councillor Stuart Brandon commented, "I am flabbergasted that the Ministry of Transportation and Communications should come here and tell us what we've been doing wrong for the past ten years. Why didn't they tell us when we were making the mistakes in the first place?" he wondered aloud.

The municipality's road maintenance budget is $40,000 overspent. That resulted in the roads crew being laid off for a week last month. Since the crew has returned to the job they have been working on a reduced schedule with many of the employees being temporarily posted to other departments to alleviate the burden on the maintenance budget.

Money transfer

In an effort to ease the strain on the road maintenance budget members of council agreed October 10 to transfer $20,600 in subsidy dollars which were earmarked for the construction budget to the maintenance section. The transfer is subject to the approval of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Redmen win

The Haliburton High School Senior Redmen continue their winning ways. The I.E. Weldon team from Lindsay was in Haliburton Tuesday afternoon to face the Redmen.

The home team defeated their guests by a convincing 30-0 margin.

Honoured by chamber

Carroll Finn was named Highlander of the Year at the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce held October 10. She was honoured for her outstanding service to the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts and in particular the creation of the Rails' End Station Gallery in Haliburton Village.

Approval needed for dump fire calls

The Anson, Hindon and Minden Fire Brigade will not be answering any more fire calls to dump sites in Lutterworth Township without the approval of that township's council members or chief fire warden.

That understanding was reached at the October 10 meeting of the Minden council after a letter from the Lutterworth council had been read.

During the month of August the Minden brigade responded to three fire calls in Lutterworth. Two of these incidents involved fires at municipally operated dumps. As per the terms of an agreement between the two townships, Lutterworth was billed for the fire calls, amounting to a total of $600. The Lutterworth council expressed their concern about the high costs of the calls, particularly since the two fires did not apparently threaten any property.

(The agreement between the two municipalities has yet to be renewed for 1979 and the rates for the fire calls were those set in 1978. The two councils have been attempting to agree on a mutually acceptable date for a meeting, at which time the new rates for the year, on a retroactive basis, will be set.)

The letter from the Lutterworth council noted, "Neither the municipal office, nor the township's chief fire warden nor any member of the council was aware these fire calls had been made to the municipal dump sites. As burning at the municipal sites does not necessarily require

Crumpled van

A single vehicle accident late Wednesday evening resulted in serious injury to a Lindsay area reporter. Barbara Valli of Radio Station CKLY was returning to Lindsay from the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce when she failed to negotiate a curve at the Twelve Mile Lake bridge and crashed into a rock face. She was alone in the truck at the time. Valli was taken to Lindsay hospital for treatment and is reported to be in improved condition.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

The Chamber's annual meeting was held last week and a good time was had by all — but many of our members weren't there. We wonder why, because this is your Chamber, and out of 325 members only 39 votes determined your board of directors for the coming year. We were very pleased that more than enough individuals indicated their very real interest in the Chamber by running for office — but certainly disappointed in the number that came to vote for us.

Four years ago we changed the meetings from spring to fall because we found our members had more time then. We have made the annual meeting a very social evening and kept the business to a minimum, which was felt to be the desire of most. We have insisted on holding the evening on a week night to assure that those whose business is greatest on week-ends could attend. This year we went to the Stanhope Firefighter's Hall because it would accommodate more people and we added live entertainment.

The evening was successful, an excellent board of directors was elected, the 85 people that were there said they enjoyed it — it's just that we wonder what else we should be doing to encourage more to attend. If you have some thoughts on it please let us know.

Our hearty congratulations go out to Carol Finn who was named Highlander of the Year for her many efforts over the years with the Guild of Fine Arts, and in particular for the driving force she provided in creating the Rail's End Gallery.

Tragic end to meeting

Miss Barbara Valli attended our meeting representing C.K.L.Y. radio in Lindsay. Following the meeting she left for Lindsay in the radio station's van and somehow lost control just north of the Twelve Mile Lake bridge.

She was listed in satisfactory condition at Ross Memorial Hospital, and was then moved to Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto for further tests. It was expected she would be released in a few days after which she would be convalescing at home. We wish her a full and speedy recovery.

A winter book

The Chamber is presently gathering advertising for a winter promotional book which will feature cross country ski trails, snowmobile trails, and detailed information about all our winter activities and events. We are anxious to hear from any of you that have information or items of interest that should be included. Of course if you operate a business that relates to winter we should hear from you also.

It should be stressed that this publication is not intended to compete with the snowmobile map book produced by the Snowmobile association. We will not be providing the detailed maps that they do, and will be promoting the full spectrum of winter activities. Ours is a "Lure" piece, and theirs is an information piece for those who have taken the "Lure".

New in business

Down at Wentworth's Marine, on Highway 121, at the Allsaw Bridge, an excellent reputation has been gained among truckers for Went's W. H. retreading on truck tires. Last week the first retreaded snowtires came out of the moulds for regular passenger car sizes. They are now prepared to save the same kind of money for car owners that they have been saving for truckers. Drop in and look them over.

The former Flamingo Cottages on 121 near Haliburton had seen better days before it was purchased by Ruth and Denver Lewis, but they have made tremendous improvements in these last few months and have now changed the name to The Old Apple Tree Resort. Plans are to continue to improve the facilities considerably, and while doing so Denver continues to commute to his job in Metro. We welcome this ambitious couple and welcome the improvements they are making to the facilities in the area. We hope you too will welcome them to our community.

wishes to announce the opening of a new business.

the service of the fire department for containment, council has indicated that it would prefer that authorization be first obtained from our (Lutterworth's) chief fire warden or a member of council before a fire call is made to any township dump site.

The Lutterworth letter also requested that the names of those individuals reporting the dump fires during August be made available to the council.

The Minden councillors expressed their sympathy with the Lutterworth situation, particularly with the high cost of the fire calls. However, some concern was also expressed over whether the onus should be placed on the Minden fire chief to locate someone in Lutterworth Township for approval before responding to a fire call.

The Anson, Hindon and Minden council agreed to the provisions as requested by the Lutterworth council. A letter is to be posted at the firehall and members of the brigade are to be made aware of the agreement. Future fire calls to the municipal dumps in Lutterworth will require the approval of the chief fire warden or a member of the municipal council.

good one for most businesses in the area, some serious challenges lie ahead.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the chamber Wednesday in Stanhope, John Hogg told the gathering, "The summer was very strong and the winter is shaping up as one of the best ever." However he cautioned, "It is somewhat easy to fall into the trap of feeling we are somewhat isolated from the harsh realities of the current profound changes in the outside world...we have to find ways to continue to aggressively upgrade our facilities and our marketing skills."

Hogg said the present energy crunch is demonstrating to the country that the smaller businesses are proving to be more stable because they are more energy-intensive and less reliant on large amounts of energy.

He noted however, that businessmen cannot continue to look to federal and provincial governments for support. "The basic responsibility for expansion and new development lies with us, not with the government," he told the delegates.

Hogg said the chamber had experienced a very good year but noted that the next two years would prove to be critical for the agency. He said there were many programs which have been started in the past few years... "many of these are not visible yet, but as they come to the surface they will increase the demands on the board and management of the chamber."

The chairman noted that the chamber had been active in increasing recreational development through the improvement of various advertising vehicles, using advertising professionals in booklet design, expanding the winter season promotion and developing new sources of promotion.

Hogg also pointed to the Economic Development Commission as a successful example of co-operation between the chamber, the county council and the general public. "Keyed to our areas of comparative advantage, minerals, forestry and forest products, the commission has become the main vehicle for the encouragement of industrial and manufacturing activity in the county."

In closing, the chairman paid tribute to the chamber's manager, Bob Stinson. "He is what makes it all work," Hogg said in commenting on the manager's role.

Looking ahead to the future, Hogg told the delegates, "I'm confident that the business people in Haliburton County, working together, can meet the challenges which lie ahead and prosper by them."

Dedication Nov. 4

An invitation has been extended to the general public to attend the dedication of the new organ at the Minden United Church. The special service will take place November 4 at 7 p.m.

The new organ will be dedicated to the memory of those who served during the two world wars.

The evening will feature two accomplished organists. Miss Melissa Stevens is a university graduate who has a degree in music.

Mr. Gordon Flemming will also participate in the ceremonies. He holds a masters degree in organ and is a professional organist in Toronto. His father served as minister at the Minden church a number of years ago.

There will be no charge for the evening and, because of the special dedication, an invitation has been extended to the members of the Royal Canadian Legion to take part in the ceremonies.

Moving in

Mrs. Mary Windover was one of the first senior citizens to move into the new apartment complex on Bobcaygeon Road North in Minden this past weekend. The residents received their keys a week ago today and most have been moving in gradually, with a flurry of activity taking place over the weekend.

Mrs. Windover, who moved from her home on South Water Street, found the new accommodations to her liking. With the assistance of her daughters, Mrs. Lloyd King, Mrs. Gary Vasey, Mrs. Leona Garden, grandson Ted Vasey and other family members she was quickly settled in her new apartment. She did admit to having a problem that she will no doubt share with many of the residents, how to squeeze a houseful of items into the small apartment.

According to a Ministry of Housing spokesman, all 20 have been rented, although it may be some time before all the tenants have moved into their new quarters.

MTC questions roads--council questions methods

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications has found a portion of the roadway in the new Highland Gate Estates subdivision to be unsatisfactory and some members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden council have expressed equal dissatisfaction with the way the ministry conducts its inspections.

A letter was received at the October 10 meeting of the council outlining a number of shortcomings in the roadbed at a number of locations and the need for a culvert in one spot. The MTC letter said that since the road had not met all their standards it could not be turned over to the municipality.

Councillor Lyle McKnight said the MTC inspector had taken the samples of the roadbed from the shoulder of the road. He said he would not have been able to get a proper reading of underlying material from the test location.

McKnight said he disagreed with the "quick trip" methods used by the MTC when inspecting roads.

McKnight said the inspector should have suggested how the roadbed could be brought up to standard. "Instead, the inspector comes in, does a few tests, and hurries back to Huntsville and writes us a letter," McKnight said the inspectors should inform the road overseer or the contractor on the spot what is needed to bring the road up to acceptable standards.

Other members of council agree with this stand. In the meantime, there appears to be little the council can do except pass on the recommendations of the MTC to the developer for his consideration.

In a related matter, during the meeting the members of council had a first-hand look at the location where the developer, Roy Windover, has requested permission to install a dock. The facility would be located on the old Deep Bay Road, along the Gull River. Initially there had been some question as to whether the facility would jut too far into the river. However, upon seeing the area first-hand the council agreed to allow the proposal to proceed as requested.

Chamber manager lists year's achievements

Echoing the comments of the president of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, the manager of the organization, Bob Stinson, reported on a positive note on this past year's activities.

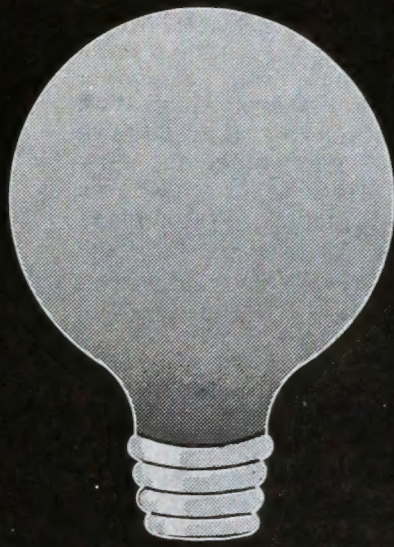

Speaking at the annual meeting of the chamber held October 10 at the Stanhope Firefighters' hall, Stinson reviewed the year's activities pointing out the successes of the organization and a number of areas in which the group's effort have fallen short.

He told the members that a number of seminars and meetings during the year had received the enthusiastic response of the delegates but there had also been several which were cancelled because of a lack of interest. "Much effort and time has been put forward to provide the merchants of Minden and Haliburton with information on which they can base a Business Improvement Area program...but nothing has happened." He said that development in both of these communities is critical, "but...the initiative must come from within."

Stinson also related the failure of several "We Treat You Royally" seminars and other informational meetings organized by the chamber or by Sir Sandford Fleming College. (more on page 6)

Notes of warning

The speeches last Wednesday evening at the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce contained the usual amount of optimism, and so they should. The summer vacation period was very busy, and according to all reports, the winter is shaping up to be as good as any in the past.

Of course it is only natural for any organization like the chamber of commerce to strike a positive note and emphasize those aspects of the economy which are growing. And, there is no reason why we shouldn't hear about the growth that has taken place and that which is anticipated...heaven knows we will quickly hear about any downturn if it should take place.

However, sprinkled through the reports offered by the chamber president and manager were notes of caution and warning.

There should be little doubt in the mind of any local businessman in the Highlands of how fragile our economy really is. It is based on the fickle taste of the travelling public and the uncertain movements of our seasonal residents. There is little doubt that this country has entered a period of economic uncertainty and that could spell problems for this area.

While there is little we can do to influence the national trends, the local businessman should be making every effort to ensure this area is able to weather any economic upheaval with minimal consequence. This should include making the Highlands a desirable destination for those on vacation, ensuring that the seasonal residents are welcomed, and looking for ways to expand and strengthen the local economy.

While the first two initiatives require a personal commitment, the latter is one that can only be confronted on a county-wide basis. The chamber has already taken the first steps in that direction through the formation of the Economic Development Commission. The search for new, compatible, stable economic activity for Haliburton County is an important goal, one that must receive the support of the entire community.

The tourist and cottage industry is important and we should not ignore it, but we should also be striving to expand our economic horizons. Only by doing so can we hope to banish those notes of caution which continue to temper the chamber of commerce speeches each year.

Good News for Canadians

By W. Roger Worth

The recent oil strikes off the Newfoundland coast are good news for all Canadians, for two reasons.

First, it creates a nice feeling to see a long-time friend and associate succeeding and becoming wealthy, particularly when for so long the financially-troubled province contended with the highest living costs in the country and unemployment which sometimes surpassed 20%.

Secondly, depending on the extent of oil and natural gas developments, the province may be able to provide the energy needed to allow Canada self sufficiency in what is a crucial commodity. Without energy, Canadians would, in that oft repeated phrase, "freeze in the dark."

What's really important, though, is the impact of Newfoundland's good luck - together with hard bargaining on the part of the government - on the rest of the nation, and the Atlantic provinces in particular.

Up to now, it has been oil and natural-gas producing provinces Alberta and Saskatchewan that, thankfully, have subsidized the rest of the country to the tune of $15 billion during the last few years.

If Newfoundland becomes a "have" province on the basis of oil, together with the booming fishery, the nature of Canada will change substantially. Instead of being forced to seek support from fellow Canadians, Newfoundlanders will be able to pay their fair share of federal government subsidized programs such as pensions and unemployment insurance, and Ottawa's equalization grants system for the province will be reversed.

On a more personal level, the thousands of hard-working Newfoundlanders enriching life in other parts of Canada because they couldn't find employment at home, may again become "down homers" as the economy expands. Which is good news indeed.

Further, the spinoffs from Newfoundland's success will be felt throughout Atlantic Canada as the nearby source of energy is developed. At the present time, Canada's Eastern provinces import virtually all of their oil and have the highest unemployment rates in the country.

The energy finds will also create a new sense of confidence in the Atlantic region, providing an added impetus for the resourcefulness of people in the four provinces.

And so-called "Newfie" jokes will become as dead as the proverbial do-do bird. It's been a long time coming.

The last of the fall flowers

Your basic autumn

by Hal Burton

Well, there you have it. Your basic autumn...come and gone as fast as a snowball in Dantes Infernal.

But oh, the crescendo and deafening roar we were all forced to endure during the holiday weekend. My head awakened rudely Saturday morning to the ceaseless crashing of docks being removed from lakes. The cacophony continued throughout the day, Sunday and Monday, accompanied in discordant harmony with the sounds of banging shutters, dying sputters of water pumps and wistful sighs of southern bound people.

Like so many migrating geese, the summer residents flung themselves upon the highway in a headlong dash to brick and mortar abodes. Roofs akimbo with lawn chairs and bric-a-brac the trunk filled to over-flowing and the back stuffed with summer treasures the cars whizzed south towing behind boats or home-made trailers rattling with the fresh cut booty of area woodlots.

Needless to say, I was saved in a nick of time or sooner, from this disheartening and uplifting scene by the gentle smell of the slow roasting turkey...the olfactory eventually overcoming the aural in a battle that indeed rivaled that put forward by our silly servants with those who would foist pay increases and cost of living bonuses upon them.

Like a gentle caress, the first waft of the golden bird, which did not baste itself nor turn our cheeks a rosy red, drifted past my fortuitously positioned nose. At once I knew summer had died and autumn was in poor condition and declining rapidly. Turkey, as all supercilious like myself realize, is not a dish for the warmer climes. Its arrival upon the groaning board is a sure sign that another season has fled.

Gone, gone with the conspiracy that only the leaves and I are privy to. Gone with the secret that should never be told by anyone with an ounce of sense in his cranium. But, just between you and me and the last post, here is the inside dope, as it were.

The leaves claim they only turn colour to tantalize the bus poster picture takers and the gullible. Thanksgiving comes tumbling into October on the second Monday of the month and with it an entire fleet of tour buses. However, be it early as we saw this circuit, or late upon its fall, the leaves shall never match their true glory when Thanksgiving weekends call. It would be too simple...easier than cake, if the colours hit the height when the holidays they make. Indeed, each year when the first frosts touch the ground, the leaves take on their vibrant hue when no one is around. The leaves, you see, won't show their form on Thanksgiving day each year, because they truly fear...if everyone saw her glorious cape, someone would try to charge admission just to gape. And so, each year when October rolls around, the leaves have passed their peak, and visitors who come to look and stare are always...

I'm sorry...I just don't know to which mysterious spell I was overcome or subjected. It seems every once in a while I break into pendantive break of which I cannot, without great physical effort, shake myself free. It, as you can realize from the above, is a truly frightening experience. I imagine, though, there is a bit of the Edgar Allen Poet in all of us.

And so I shall end this transmission with one of the most classic lines of all times...nevermore.

Log builders search for orders

Building with logs is not a new concept in this country. As a matter of fact, it was the construction method used by Canada's pioneers. While using logs for home construction has enjoyed a renaissance in the last few years, a local group of builders, known as the Haliburton Guild of Log and Timber Joinery is still struggling to become a viable organization.

That is not to say the guild members do not look forward to brighter times ahead. The chairman of the organization, Bob Clift, is optimistic that the future for the five guild members and log construction in the county will show improvement.

The guild was formed in May of this year. Six local people who were involved with log construction decided to pool their talents in anticipation of being able to attract more orders and to obtain a higher profile in the community. (Since its inception one member has withdrawn from the group). The guild was formed on a co-operative basis. If one member should receive an order for constructing a building, all would share in the work and the profits.

One of the aims of the group was to establish a local construction site on which they would build a structure for their office and they were forced to live in a log home. In many cases the buildings were not properly constructed or lacked the modern conveniences that can now be included in a log home." He points out that all log homes built by the guild can be equipped with electricity, running water, central heating...all the conveniences one would expect to find in a structure constructed by traditional methods.

As Clift worked on his own home near Halls Lake he noted that there is a great deal of interest shown by passers-by in the construction. "Many times during the day people will stop their cars and wander down to the site to ask questions and enquire about log construction. Most are curious and interested in what we are doing but few appear to consider log construction as an alternative."

Clift explained that log construction is not any more costly than conventional home building. He also pointed out that with the fitted log technique, where one log is cut in such a manner as to "nest" on the log below, log structures are no longer the drafty buildings pioneers remember.

"Log homes, using this method can be as snug and warm in the winter as any other," Clift points out. "In addition, they are cooler in demonstration purposes. The group had hoped to locate it in a prominent place so that the structure itself would be an attraction to passing motorists. In addition to the building site the guild was attempting to find a location where they could construct homes to order. This aspect of the industry, according to Bob Clift, could become more important than actual on-site construction.

He sees a great potential for taking orders for homes, cutting and fitting the logs here and then dismantling the structure and shipping them to the building site. "That is one of the natural advantages of log home construction," comments Clift. "Once the logs have been fitted the structure can be taken apart and moved to any location and reassembled." With enough orders Clift believes log construction could become a year-round industry employing a number of local craftsmen on a full-time basis.

"The raw materials are here," he points out, "we have a group of people who are becoming experts in log home construction...all that is needed now is orders for homes."

Modern speed

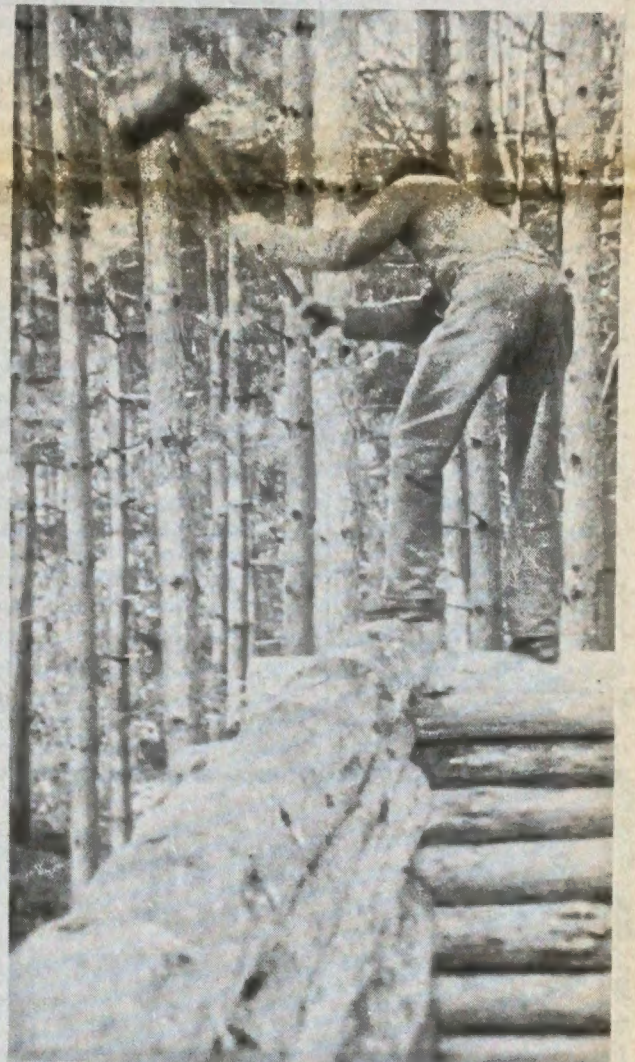

Guild member Steve Watt uses a chain saw to cut a notch in a log. The saws enable modern log builders to work at a speed which would be envied by early pioneers.

Clift blames the lack of interest in log construction on a lack of information on the part of the public. "Some people recall their early days in Haliburton County when the summer because of the insulating qualities of the logs."

Clift notes that the provincial government used to charge sales tax on pre-fabricated log buildings, but that through pressure from the industry, this additional cost was removed. The members of the local guild also belong to a provincial association which includes nearly 600 members.

The guild has also considered the possibility of sponsoring courses in log building although such a program would cut into potential orders.

At the moment they are actively seeking more orders to keep their organization afloat and their members busy. "I don't think we'll ever be a major industry in the county," the chairman comments, "but with a regular stream of orders I think we can make a contribution to the local economy."

Persuasion

Sometimes the judicious use of a wooden headed sledge hammer can be useful in moving unruly logs into place.

Cottage destroyed

A fire early Tuesday morning destroyed one cabin and half a second building at Hart Lodge north of Minden. The fire brigade was called to the scene at about 5 a.m., although it was believed the structure had been burning for a number of hours. The cabins were not rented at the time of the fire and had been closed by the owners for the season. No cause has yet to be determined.

Manager's report

On the positive side, the manager noted the success of the chamber's efforts to block the move of the registry office from Minden and the change in MNR plans with regard to waterlot leasing. He told the meeting the chamber had been active in preparing briefs for the five year review of the Algonquin Park master plan, in pursuing the need for DREE funding for the area and the activities of the Economic Development Commission.

"Although we are enthusiastic about the new directions this commission (EDC) is taking, certainly cautious optimism would best describe the anticipated results, considering today's economic climate. Everyone agrees we need a more stable economic base -- acquiring it will be a long hard struggle."

Stinson noted that while the Haliburton Chamber continued to be a strong force within the community, some questions still persisted as to the value of the Central Ontario Tourist Association, (COTA) to which the chamber belongs. "We continue to search for ways in which we can benefit from the existence of COTA" Stinson said. He told the meeting there was a new manager at COTA, but that the organization had a considerable debt which had been created by the previous manager. Stinson also noted that there was some question as to the legality of the procedures through which COTA members are appointed.

After covering a number of other high points of the year the manager paid tribute to the staff members who worked at the various locations throughout the county. He also announced that former Times assistant editor Sue (Spence) Cooper had been appointed by the chamber on a temporary basis to secure advertising for the 1980 lure book.

What's your goal in life?

Whether or not you know what you'd like to do with your life, there are qualified and sensitive people who can help in your community.

If you already have an idea about what you want, people such as members of your local Home and School Association, representatives from your Chamber of Commerce, Canada Employment and Immigration counsellors, local apprenticeship consultants or Ontario Career Action Program Co-ordinators can help you. If you're still uncertain about what you'd like to do, talk to your school guidance counsellor, or placement advisor. These people can give you information on a wide range of career opportunities, some you may never have thought of before!

The final decision will always be yours, but that doesn't mean you have to reach it all alone. There are people who are interested in showing you how you can reach your goal more quickly.

If you want more information on career education, simply clip out the coupon in this advertisement and we'll send you a list of people to contact in your area.

During "Ontario Career Week", (Oct. 29 - Nov. 4) get involved.

After all, it's your future.

Make it happen.

High school report

The following report from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was prepared by the principal, T.B. Mosgrove.

At Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, we have a system of awards of which the whole community should be proud. The program is a registered charitable organization and is operated by an organization called the Haliburton Highlands Scholarship Fund. A brief outline of the history of this organization will emphasize the involvement of the community in this very fine program.

The Haliburton County District High School opened in September, 1953, replacing the Continuation Schools in Haliburton and Minden. When the Minden Continuation School closed in June, 1953 the Students' Council had some surplus funds. Mr. Clarence McInerney, Principal of the Minden Continuation School, decided that rather than this being turned over to a new Students' Council the money should be used to start some type of scholarship fund.

From this idea, the Minden and then later Haliburton County Old Boys' Educational Foundation came into being. The organization loaned money to qualifying students, who upon completing school commenced to pay back the loan at low interest. (At this time the Government was not involved in any student aid program so the local source of help was very worthwhile.)

Clarence and other people scoured the area and got a number of citizens to form a committee. Some of the original members were: Mr. W. R. Curry, Mr. Harold Herlihey, Mrs. Phyllis Hodgson, Mr. J. McColl Prentice and Mrs. Clayton Rogers, along with other leading citizens. The first graduating class eligible for this aid was the class of 1954.

Mrs. Anna English was the first secretary-treasurer of this committee. Anna did all of the work involved in banking, making the loans, writing to students, reminding students they should be repaying their loans, thanking students for payment, etc. Many students wrote to Mrs. English and she formed lasting friendships with these young people.

In September 1958, Mr. Frank Litt - then Principal of the Secondary School - held a staff meeting and suggested that a scholarship fund should be created by the teachers and a budget set up for a committee to administer it. Mr. Litt said he would prefer native born Haliburton County teachers to form the committee as they would have a much better knowledge of the students and the needs of their families.

Mr. Bud Thayer, Mr. Bob Herlihey and Mr. Doug Hodgson were chosen and the first meeting was held in the home of Bud Thayer. At that time it was decided to canvass leading citizens and service organizations within the County. Around this time, Mr. Harold Herlihey gave money in memory of his father - thus establishing the Scholarship - the F. D. Herlihey Memorial Scholarship.

The first service organizations to become involved in the Scholarship Fund were the Rotary Clubs of Haliburton and Minden, followed not long after by the Order of the Eastern Star and the Haliburton Legion.

For some time the Haliburton Highlands Old Boys' Organization and the Scholarship Fund existed as separate entities - one being formed by the local citizens and the other by the secondary school teachers. However, in 1974 Mrs. English became ill and was forced to give up her work as secretary-treasurer for both the Old Boys' Organization and the Secondary School Scholarship Fund. At this time it was felt that the two should be amalgamated.

Mr. Bob Herlihey has been on the Scholarship Committee since its inception. Bob has done a tremendous amount of work in this field and is still very active as the chairman. Mrs. Louise Cooper who is presently secretary has successfully carried out a mammoth task for many years and Mrs. Marilyn Kuno is the able treasurer.

Until 1970 the awards were presented at the annual commencement exercises. In that year the presentations were made after the honours and awards banquet. Those invited to the banquet were: students receiving awards, honour student, and the donors, and the event was entirely separate from Commencement.

In 1974 the Old Boys' Loan Committee members were included in the banquet. The hosts for the honours and awards banquet are the teachers of the secondary school and for many years now the teachers have contributed to the scholarship fund providing four scholarships, an engraved honour pin and bar for each student, and the funds necessary to operate the banquet that precedes these presentations.

All awards are designed to assist our graduates who are pursuing post-secondary studies, or to encourage all students to strive for excellence. This year the presentation of awards will be made following the banquet, at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium. A total of $5225 in scholarships and bursaries will be presented along with 91 honour pins and bars plus several prizes and trophies. A complete catalogue of all awards and requirements for the 1979-80 school year will be available on awards night and from home form teachers after November 7.

Everyone in Haliburton County is cordially invited to join us in the school auditorium on Saturday, October 27 at 8:00 p.m. Also, if any individual or organization wishes to contribute in any way to this worthwhile program for our young people, please contact Mr. Mosgrove at the school - 457-2950.

$1000 damage - car strikes tree

A single car accident on the Davis Lake Road in Lutterworth Township resulted in $1000 damage to a 1978 pick-up truck. The vehicle was driven by Edgar C. Terry, 52 of Barrie.

According to police, the driver was travelling east on the road when his wheels were caught in the loose gravel along the side of the road. The truck left the roadway and struck a tree. The mishap took place October 8 just before 1 p.m.

Constable Weldon Popp investigated the accident.

Slush on the road

The snow of last Tuesday morning created a problem for at least one driver in the area.

Emil J. Martyniuk, 52, of Toronto was travelling west on Highway 503 in Snowdon Township. As he rounded a curve the accumulated snow and slush on the road caused his vehicle to slide into another in the oncoming lane. Driver of the second vehicle was James Russell Tice, 34, of Haliburton.

Damage to the Tice vehicle was estimated at $1000 while the Martyniuk car sustained $600. The accident took place October 9.

The investigating officer was Constable Weldon Popp of the Minden OPP.

Strikes rock

A car driven by Gregory J. Roe of R. R. 1 Minden sustained $1000 damage when it failed to negotiate a curve on County Road number 2 in Minden Township. The accident happened shortly after midnight October 11.

Investigating the accident was Constable Jim Solway.

Minden Women's Institute

The October meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held at the United Church Hall on the 10th, a week early, with President, Mrs. C. Brown, in the chair. She began with a verse and after the usual opening, the roll call. There were 22 members present.

The hostesses read verses and Mrs. Brown welcomed 3 guests.

The reports followed, Mrs. A. Taylor read the treasurer's report in Mrs. Kernohan's absence. Mrs. W. Moore reported sending 15 cards during the past 3 weeks.

Arrangements were made for the Victoria East District Tea at Fenelon Falls United Church next Wednesday, the 17th, with members offering lunch, baking, or bringing crafts for our display. Transportation was arranged as well. Mention was made of the birthday tea at Hyland Crest, late in November. This will be planned at the next meeting. Collections for cards and pennies for friendship were taken.

Mrs. W. Moore, convenor of cultural affairs, introduced the speaker, Dr. A. Jamieson, and her topic was "Why let your growth be stunted". This had to do with preserving culture, displaying and saving it for our children and future generations. Many of our youth never experience art, or the beauty of our scenery or even notice a sunset.

She also presented details of the cultural centre which hopefully will be built soon. Mrs. Moore brought some facts to us about need for the library section in this complex and she also thanked the speaker for leaving her thoughts with us.

We are asked to save the computer tapes from articles, for a sick girl's treatment and these may be given to Irene Moore or Elva Deacon. A grocery box draw will be our Project with proceeds for the cultural centre. Members are to bring articles to next meeting for this.

Mrs. Arnold Coulter read a verse, "There Wasn't Time" and the meeting adjourned.

A delicious lunch was served by the committee. Next meeting will be November 21 at St. Paul's Parish Hall at 2 p.m. with all ladies welcome.

Letters from Lorraine

Lorraine Perry is an Ingoldsby high school student who is spending a year overseas in Belgium as part of the Rotary International exchange program. Her family has agreed to share some of her experiences through the letters Lorraine writes home. The following are excerpts from a letter written October 3.

The French is becoming easier. I can now understand better what the teachers are saying at school. I am also speaking better, although I find it difficult to write French. My teacher gives me homework of translating English into French. I have read an English book and written a summary of it in French. I have not written any tests, although I have tried a couple...but again the writing is the problem. It will come... just give it time.

I watch the news on T.V. but I have not heard too much about Canada. It is mentioned every once in a while, not very much though...

This past weekend was very busy. I helped prepare a "manifete". It was operated by the "Patro" of Sombrefe, a youth group which looks after projects in the area. Because this is the International Year of The Child, the project was dedicated to the children. There were games, a magician, folk songs, balloons, flowers, local people displayed their crafts, in front of their homes. Francoise, (my sister) helped children make little copper enamel pendants (crosses, trees, fish, etc.) and I also helped.

There was a dinner with shish kebabs, rice, bread and a beverage. I helped make 400 shish kebabs for the dinner. They were cooked outside on the fire. We sang, danced and a great time was had by all.

One of the activities also included painting a scene of a rainbow and nature in the centre of the street in front of our house. Some young adults traced out the design and the children painted it. It was quite unique. I think it is a fantastic idea to have the children add to the character of the town.

On another weekend I went to a hit parade with Babeth. She was representing the minister she works with and I represented her husband. The town of Jemeppe was celebrating an anniversary of a famous comic character of Belgium called "Tin-Tin". He is a young boy who has travelled around the world performing courageous deeds.

The town had a parade with flower floats, marching bands and majorettes. A plane flew overhead and rose petals fell down from the sky. People hung Belgian flags from their windows, and there were rides for children. A special bleacher was set up for the guests with reservations and this included Babeth and I. Each float would stop in front of our location. As well each band or majorette group perform in front of us. I also met the mayor of the town and the Minister of Culture.

I also attended a masquerade party that weekend. It was with the friends of Anne. I wore a very, very, very old dress, the kind with lace, puffy sleeves, full skirt, thin waist and lots of ties. I learned many new dances and one guy taught me a step which I thought I never could do...

The only new food I have tried is young pigeons...they are excellent!

Today it is 22 degrees here. I can't believe how warm it is. The weather has been changing so much lately...

I discovered the school has 1000 students altogether. This includes kindergarten, elementary school, and secondary school. It is all one building which is divided into sections and takes up a large part of the street. Today we had two periods of Flemish, then went to mass for the rest of the morning. Since it was Wednesday we had the rest of the day free...

Today I received my school pictures. They cost $12 for one big one, four small ones and nine tiny ones. Everyone in my class wants a copy. I decided that I will get a copy of their photographs as well. Since the school does not have a yearbook, I'm going to make my own...take my own pictures and add my comments...

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

As hunters across Ontario oil up their guns for the annual deer hunt, only a few may have noticed that this year one less species is available as a target. The Natural Resources Ministry has announced that Ontario's tiny herd of elk will no longer be subjected to the stress of hunting, with no open season on this species anywhere in the province.

While the Ministry's move has been applauded by conservationists, its import is hardly earth-shaking. Only about five elk had been shot each year, from a herd of perhaps several hundred in the Burwash and Chapleau areas. These elk are not even native - Ontario's original elk population was pushed to extinction in the late 1800's. Experimental introductions of western elk took place in several places across Ontario in the 1930's and a peak population of about 400 resulted.

As so often happens when man tampers with the balance of nature, the results of the introduction didn't go smoothly. Wildlife researchers thought they detected a connection between a parasitic liver disease in livestock and the herd of elk. As a result, in the early 1950's, attempts were made to eradicate the herd, with little success. These efforts were finally abandoned, but an open season was retained to control elk numbers.

Eventually, the elk were vindicated - the suspected disease connection had never really existed. The herd continues to dwindle, but the Ministry has finally recognized that elk are a feature of local interest, and that hunting pressures should be removed to help their survival.

These members of the deer family are properly known as wapiti - a name thought to be given them by the Shawnee Indians. Their large white rump patches make them unmistakable, but most of us will have to travel to the Rocky Mountain parks to actually catch a glimpse of one.

Ontario's wapiti still are threatened by diminishing habitat and occasional losses by drowning through winter ice, but at least they are now being recognized as an attraction of value instead of an unwanted pest.

This lime proved to be a lemon

It had to be one of those days for the driver of this transport truck when he pulled into Minden Thursday morning.

Carrying a load of powdered lime, the truck was destined for the Beaverbrook Golf Course where the material would be used on the fairways. Since the access to the course is across a wooden bridge, the driver felt it would be prudent to dump the load on the highway side of the span.

Backing carefully into position he started to raise the box and then his world started to fall apart. With a wrenching twist the load shifted and rather than pouring out through the open gates at the back the box fell to one side.

The hydraulic piston and frame of the truck were twisted and the load spilled out of the box.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $16,500.

The driver was uninjured. Dave Stevens on the tractor, operator of the golf course, and a number of others, helped to unload the lime from the truck before it was taken away for repairs.

College to host seminar

Details and far-reaching effects of the Ontario government's new occupational health and safety regulations will be discussed and analysed at a special seminar hosted by Sir Sandford Fleming College November 6-8.

Designed to outline the details and implications of the regulations under the Province's Bill 70, the seminar will discuss items such as the cost implication of the new bill for local companies, its potential effect on employee relations, record keeping, violation penalties, and designing industrial safety procedures within the terms of the new legislation.

When fully implemented Bill 70 will codify all existing safety legislation into one package committing employers to guaranteeing the safety of their employees in all areas.

Employers found violating the new law could be subject to fines of up to $25,000 and one year's imprisonment.

The College's half-day seminar will be conducted by Max Clarke, former Quaker Oats Company Operations Manager and Past President of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association.

The Bill 70 seminar will be held at Sir Sandford's McDonnell Campus in Peterborough November 6, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. in each location.

Lawn bowlers hold closing banquet

On October 12 a pot-luck supper was held to end the first season of lawn bowling.

The ladies co-operated fully as usual, and most of the members were present for the delicious meal.

Following the dinner Mr. Don Sinclair, chairman for the evening, called upon Mr. Cy Heal, the president of the club, to introduce the guests - Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Nesbitt and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Garbutt. Mr. Nesbitt complimented the directors and members of the club for making the first season of bowling such a successful one. Mr. Garbutt brought greetings from the Curling Club, extended best wishes for great bowling next year and invited the bowlers to join the Curling Club.

Mr. Sinclair conducted a short business meeting for the election of officers and Mrs. Lil Rawlins presented the financial report.

To conclude the meeting Mr. Heal announced that this year every member had been a winner, so each one received a token prize. The results of the six-game trebles tournament were as follows:

First: Cy Heal, Holly Cooper, Vera Ward.

Second: Don Sinclair, Ethel Sinclair, Alice Cox.

Third: George Davidson, Bill Bennett, Alberta Maitland.

Ev Rudd expressed the thanks of the members to the directors. The success is due to the hard work and the loyalty of all who participated, she pointed out.

One of the last remarks was, "When are we opening again?"—Look for the announcements in the spring.

4 charged following thefts

Minden OPP have laid charges against four Oakville men following an incident October 14 at the Kennis-Red Pine Lake Dam in Havelock Township.

The four, Michael Robert Young, 21, Wladyslaw W. Orzech, 53, Erkki Kalevi Minkinen, 17, and Shane Keith Farrell, 21, were charged with theft over $200, possession of stolen property and taking a vessel without the owner's permission.

The charges were laid after a boat and motor belonging to Ian N. Phillips of West Hill was removed from its moorings near the dam. The boat had been chained to a tree. The property, which was valued at $1650 was recovered.

Charges laid

Police have also charged four individuals following break-ins at three Haliburton Village business premises.

The stores, the Haliburton Laundromat, Haliburton Hairdressers and Bruce's Barber Shop, were entered September 16 and 17. An estimated $620 in property was taken, of which the police have recovered $300.

Charged with three counts of break, enter and theft are John Briggs, 17, of R.R. 1 Minden, Darren K. Mac Innes, 16 of Haliburton, Edward Davis, 16, of Haliburton and a juvenile.

AROUND THE TOWN

by Jeanne Sears

We read that on October 22 at 7 p.m., there will be a show on television called, "Why Should I Care." The program gives students' views on a number of topics. It might be an interesting program for everyone to take in.

At the weekly mini card party at St. Paul's parish hall Thursday afternoon winners were for cribbage Dora Dawson and Anne Dawson and for euchre lone hands Freida Harrison and Lillian Davidson and Bill Elcome.

Joan Kernohan reports having had a grand weekend at Nashville.

Good wishes go to these people who are in hospital or have been there, Robbie Titus, local hospital, Pat Raymond, Civic Hospital, Carol Anderson and Jack Johnston.

Misses Eleanor Madill and Gaye Coneybeare are holidaying at the moment at Nassau.

Coming up is a rummage sale at St. Paul's parish hall on Friday, October 19 from 1-9 and Saturday, October 20 from 1-3. We understand that the thrift shop upstairs, will also be open at these times and refreshments will be available.

Registration time for the figure skating club is Saturday, October 20 at the municipal building from 11-1 p.m. Please bring your family OHIP number.

Heard that some of our older residents have moved in to the senior apartments in Minden. We wish them well.

Not much to write this time, don't forget to call us by Monday at 11 a.m. so that we may air your news.

A great deal of wet weather lately, perhaps better than snow as you don't have to shovel it. Take care on the highways.

Cheerio until next time.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

Over the Thanksgiving Holiday, there were many visitors to Hyland Crest. The weather was fairly good over the weekend, and it was quite a shock to wake up Tuesday morning to find the ground covered with snow.

Rev. David Barker of Minden Anglican Church held a Communion Service in the chapel on Tuesday morning. Agnes Taylor played the organ while we sang some inspiring hymns.

Later in the afternoon it was movie time in the auditorium. A good number turned out to watch two very scenic and interesting films. The first called "Ocean Heritage" was filmed in Newfoundland. The narrator took us on a tour along the rugged coastline. We saw the inside of a lighthouse, and learned how they operate. The raging storms and rocky coastline make lighthouses an absolute necessity.

"The Living River" showed us the life at the bottom of our rivers. We watched the reproduction and migration of many species of fish and eel. The film was filled with nature, and the residents enjoyed it very much.

Wednesday morning, a good number of people went to the auditorium of the fun and fitness program. We sang our songs while exercising our bodies. After a fun game of darts we kicked the ball in time to some old time banjo music. Several wheel chair residents participated in the program, and it is good to see these people enjoying the activity.

The ladies went to the Craft room in the afternoon. We are working particularly hard these days preparing for the Christmas bazaar and would like to thank the several faithful volunteers who turn out to help each week.

The ladies of the Kinmount Legion made our Thursday afternoon tea party a great success. They brought a delicious assortment of sandwiches and cake. We would like to thank these generous ladies for making our afternoon an enjoyable one.

Thursday evening was bingo night again with the Kinsmen. We all look forward to playing, hoping to win tokens to spend at the Tuck Shop. Our thanks to the Kinsmen for making it possible.

Friday, after our usual fun and fitness time, and after lunch, Grace Colburne was here to lead the sing song. We sang some familiar gospel songs and some old favorites. Mr. Fred Ballard accompanied us on the organ.

Birthdays celebrated this week were Mr. Tom Harrison, October 6 and Ethel MacDonald October 10. Both these special people were presented with a lovely birthday cake while everyone joined to sing Happy Birthday.

No solution to road problem

Members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council, representative of the Ministry of Environment and the Ministry of Transportation and Communications met in closed session with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Walker October 10 in an attempt to resolve the problem surrounding the access road to the water storage tank.

The Walkers have requested that the township assume control of the road to ensure proper maintenance and access to their property. However, the township claims it cannot do so because the road does not meet provincial standards. At the same time the Ministry of the Environment denies having given any indication it would construct a roadway which would meet MTC standards.

There was no apparent solution in the meeting held last Wednesday, however future meetings are expected to be held in an effort to resolve the problem.
